

Germany on the Brink

Insofar as it has already come.

„Germany on the brink“, written by a renowned, more conservative New York daily newspaper. Really anything but a Boulevard newspaper. Make no mistake about this country of something? Are we here yet beyond all realistic perceptions? We are in the eye of the hurricane and not even realize it? The question is rather: when we finally wake up and assess the developments in this country with the necessary seriousness. Blindness and trust in political slogans of „responsible“ can bring us into serious trouble.
